The rapid development of the computer becomes a facilitator for information. Internet is one way to get information. With the Internet one can get the right information in order without spending a huge cost. In addition, the Internet can also be used as a means of promotion. This site is made so that more people know about the band "Dream Chaser".